

BINGHAM CALLS DOWN BOUNCERS HIRED BY B. R. T.

FALSE STORIES START NEW RIOT ON EAST SIDE

Will Not Be Allowed to Longer Masquerade as City Police.

Policeman Shot a Dog,
but Was Reported to Have Wounded Boy.

The bouncers of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit will no longer be allowed to masquerade in city policemen's uniforms. Commissioner Bingham made this announcement today in answering the many complaints made to the Evening World that city cops were helping throw passengers off the trains where two fares were refused for a one-fare ride.

The men, said the Commissioner, were not city policemen, but private employees of the traction company wearing the city's blue and brass.

"I have been investigating the private patrolmen of this city for some time," said the Commissioner, "and I can promise there will be no more of them. Many of them have been reported to me as having been hired by the B. R. T. to intimidate citizens. Most of the complaints have been from Coney Island, where people have mistaken B. R. T. private policemen for city police uniform with the exception of the precinct numbers on their collars.

"They are not empowered to make arrests and yet they have been assuming the functions of regular patrolmen, especially in clearing cars and have thus brought odium on the regular force."

At the beginning of the season I issued an order to that effect, but strong representations were made to me by these corporations that they had forced their men to buy uniforms for the summer and it would be a hardship to make them buy new ones.

"The change must be made at once. Private patrolmen will have to get new uniforms. They will be distinguished from the regular police by the fact that they can be seen. This ought to be a good temporary measure and will cause no hardship to the corporations."

That police shields and uniforms have been used for blackmailing purposes I have learned from Deputy Commissioner O'Keefe. Private bouncers in Coney Island resorts have used their resemblance to regular police to take money. However, I must keep my agreement with the corporations who have begged off until October.

The Commissioner was surprised when told by the old Headquarters men that under the law every citizen is a special patrolman if he catches a law-breaker in the act or is called on to assist a policeman.

His attention was called to the private watchman who through a special man collecting blackmail in the Tenderloin.

The hair-trigger east side temperament exploded again today because of a report that policemen were shooting little boys in the streets. A policeman shot a dog and started the rumor and a riot. Placid men and women and howling children milled around like a lot of stampeded cattle in the district bounded by Grand, Stanton, Allen and Ridge streets until the Eldridge street station reserves succeeded in quieting the clamor.

"You hear a whole lot," said one peering cop who has been called out to suppress riots five times in three days, "about the hard-working slaves of the east side. The people over here have more idle time on their hands than devote to running around in circles and telling how they are being mistreated than the people of any other part of the city."

A poor, forlorn, little lost dog was the cause of today's trouble. He was set upon at No. 119 Delancey street by a swarm of boys, who teased him until he was crazy with pain and fear. Finally, aroused to resentment, he bit Benny Bernstein, ten years old, of No. 94 Essex street, in the leg. Policeman Rosky shot the dog and took young Bernstein to a drug store in the vicinity for treatment. The boys scattered and apical stories about a policeman shooting little boys.

When an ambulance that Rosky had summoned from Gouverneur Hospital arrived the streets around the drug store were blocked. A young man who spoke English mounted the seat of a truck and assured all within the sound of his voice that the children of this city had conspired to cut their children's throats and shoot them.

Rosky and three other policemen managed to get the ambulance away, but the crowd did not disperse. Wild rumors floated out from the edges and as hundreds ran from all directions the edges expanded. Finally the reserves were summoned.

The exasperated policemen were in no mood to exercise gentle methods. They did not use their clubs, but they used a lot of physical force. Despite their best efforts it was an hour before the streets were clear for trade.

As the result of injuries received by jumping from a moving car Vincent Merrill, twenty-eight years old, of Newtown, N. J., died in St. Mary's Hospital, Jamaica, today. Merrill, who was foreman of a gang of workmen last night boarded car 478, of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit road.

He jumped off the car while it was in motion at Gold street, Richmond Hill, and struck on his head. He was brought to the hospital, where he was found to be suffering from a compound fracture of the skull.

At the beginning of the season I issued an order to that effect, but strong representations were made to me by these corporations that they had forced their men to buy uniforms for the summer and it would be a hardship to make them buy new ones.

"The change must be made at once. Private patrolmen will have to get new uniforms. They will be distinguished from the regular police by the fact that they can be seen. This ought to be a good temporary measure and will cause no hardship to the corporations."
